

Case Study: High-Value Artwork

Packing High-Value Artwork

Bespoke cases designed to protect high-value cargo for Air & Sea transit.

As an AEO-F accredited organisation, operating in a secure warehouse under complete CCTV surveillance, within a dedicated area at our Heathrow facility; UCH Export Packers is equipped to handle, expertly pack and safely hold your High-Value consignments until they are ready for export.

Care & Expertise

With an experienced team ready to provide advice and a range of materials stocked in our dedicated packing area, we are able to ensure your consignment meets all of your client's requirements, as well as global standards necessary for safe international travel, on your behalf.

Protected, Positioned & Photographed

With exact specifications, our Export Packing team are able to prefabricate bespoke cases prior to the Artwork's arrival, ensuring a quick turnaround and minimising the handling of fragile cargo.

Horizontally placed, the bespoke case frame is laid flat, safeguarding the Artwork when positioned. Stratocell foam is used to layer over each piece of glass and hold the consignments in place, reducing the risk of damage and ensuring no movement in transit.

A custom-made, extended, fork runner base is fabricated to not only provide stability, but ensure ease of handling through each stage of the consignments journey.

Our team ensures every customer has complete visibility of their consignment. Images are taken on arrival, open cased & sealed, which are emailed to our customers with their references once the booking has been completed.

Screened & Delivered

In conjunction with the wider services on offer from UCH, our Export facilities are equipped to screen your delicate consignments using less intrusive methods of screening, minimising handling, before delivery into the airline.
